WILCOX ELEMENTARY SCHOOL

Named in honor of Moses and Aaron Wilcox, pioneer settlers from Connecticut, Wilcox Elementary School is a far cry from Twinburg's first school, erected with the $20.00 contribution made by the Wilcox twins. Born in Connecticut in May, 1770, Moses and Aaron Wilcox carried their twinship far beyond their common birthdate. Educated together and partners in business with all property held in common, they married sisters in a double ceremony; they fell ill on the same day in September, 1827 of the same disease, died within a few hours of each other, and were buried in a common grave.

Wilcox Elementary School represents the second living memorial to this unique pair. In exchange for six acres of land donated by the twins for a public square, the settlers agreed to grant to them the privilege of naming the new settlement. Moses and Aaron chose to call it Twinburg.
